PHOTO RELEASE: Students Attend #Iwillride Student Symposium and High-Speed Rail Construction Tour

FRESNO, Calif. – College and university students from around the state gathered in Fresno for an up close and personal account of the California High-Speed Rail Program. The first ever All Aboard: #Iwillride Student Symposium and High-Speed Rail Construction Tour, held last Friday at Bitwise Industries, attracted undergraduate and graduate students who have a vision for the future that involves transforming travel within our state, broadening the workforce of tomorrow, and taking tourism to the next level. Students heard directly from high-speed rail leaders and local officials as well as #Iwillride alumni who are now working to shape the future of transportation in California.

ABOUT #Iwillride

#Iwillride student chapters throughout the state connect students with the high-speed rail program and those working to make next-level transportation a reality. Born in the heart of California’s Central Valley, #Iwillride was founded by college students who support options in mobility and transportation, and the development of California’s high-speed rail program. #Iwillride members believe this significant investment in the state’s transportation infrastructure, mass transit, and transit-oriented development will offer regional connectivity, economic opportunity, and an environmentally-friendly alternative for transportation in the 21st Century.
